The EarthWay Seeder is one of the most familiar tools for direct seeding. However, its standard handle height of 36 inches isn't always ergonomically-friendly for taller uses. For that reason, the EarthWay Handle Extension can be used to adjust the handle to a maximum height of 40 inches.

Contents:

- (2) extension bars
- (4) nuts
- (4) bolts

ATTACHING:

1. Remove the handle that comes with the seeder by unscrewing the bolts. Set aside.
2. Attach the extension bars to either side of the seeder frame using the nuts and the shorter bolts that came with the handle extension kit.

3. Determine the desired height of the handle. Attach the stock handle to the extension bars using the nuts and the larger bolts that came with the handle extension kit. These bolts are longer, so that if you only raise the handle 1 notch, they can pass through the 3 overlapping aluminum bars.

Note: The handle extension bars are not designed to be used with the fertilizer attachment installed to the EarthWay Seeder.
